David Attenborough

If someone asked me "who inspires you?" millions of people would flash through my head. But I would think of one person. He is a great biologist and presenter. Many Saturday nights were spent watching his eye opening wonderful documentaries. David Attenborough. He inspires me because he brings once in a lifetime natural moments from out there to our TVs. He raises awareness about many things in nature people do not hear about.

Watching his amazing series I got to experience the chilly dangers of the arctic to the bubbling metropolis of coral reefs. I've always wanted to experience nature, the ugly and pretty side. He inspires me. I would love to be able to inspire others like he inspires me.
