The Hamster Wheel Phone Charger part two

My idea is called the hamster wheel phone charger. It is made to help save energy.

Just like a port at home on the side of your wall there is a box that has two ports and some USB plugs Which you plug your phone into. The hamster wheel needs a gripped wrap around the metal bars so it does not roll away When the hamster wheel spins on the rollers it puts electricity into the box and charges your electronic without paying any money towards your electricity bills. The hamster does all the work for you.
